Comments: Regarding the feasibility study underway to underground all overhead power lines. I know this would be a very expensive venture however anyone who has lost power for more than a day would agree it's the right thing to do. I am sure all the people in Florida would agree and I, as a Virginian, was without power for nearly 8 days due to hurricane Isabel. I would not mind paying $5.00 more on my bill so long as that $5.00 was not taxed and the money went for the specific purpose of undergrounding electric lines.
